

PROJECT INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the COSERE ERASMUS+ Project!

Collegial support in an educational setting can look like many different things; collaborative peers that encourage each other’s professional growth and development, responsibility and authority being shared between educators, or even simple, regular coffee mornings where teachers speak openly about recent developments in the workplace. Whatever form it takes, we in the COSERE project know one thing for certain: a high degree of collegial support is worth aiming for.

What are the COSERE Project’s Aims?

1. Identifying Needs

Before launching into our work, we must gain a deeper appreciation of the existing state of collegial support in education. Research is key!

2. Enhancing Understanding

With a foundational understanding of collegial support requirements in education, we can move forward in promoting the impact of collegiality and collaboration in this sector.

Results

1. Online Handbook

We will produce an Online Handbook which breaks down the different forms of collegial support (coaching, supervision, mentoring, etc.) and how they can be applied to promote resilience and growth.

2. CPD Course

Our modular Continuous Professional Development course, which will be offered in hybrid form (remote/digital and face-to-face) will instruct educational leaders on collegial support best practices.

3. Learning Visits

Deepening the multilateral nature of our work and strengthening cross-border cooperation, our international learning visits will provide a wide variety of best practice case studies.

We’re only at the start of our learning journey, so stay tuned! Our second newsletter in October will detail some exciting developments we have planned...
